Bombay Chamber Sustainability Conclave focuses on Circular Economy and product innovations needed to achieve material efficiency

Bombay Chamber's annual Sustainability Conclave 2025 held on November 19, 2025 at the St Regis Hotel Mumbai, focused on Closing the Loop: Circular Pathways to Business. With a line-up of eminent leaders in the field, the Conclave touched upon the current scenario in circularity and the challenges within. Panelists were in agreement that policy interventions were the need of the hour to incentivise players who have entered the field.

In his theme setting address, Anirban Ghosh, Head – Centre for Sustainability, Mahindra University and chairperson Sustainability Committee, Bombay Chamber said, "Our societal norms often encourage uncontrolled consumption and waste, which harms the environment. This is where the concept of a circular economy comes in – a system that promotes sustainability and efficient use of resources. The need for a circular economy is urgent, as there's no Planet B to fall back on.

To achieve this, we need to adopt pathways like reducing the use of virgin materials and increasing the lifespan of materials in use. Research in circular economy is gaining momentum, focusing on: Circular materials and bio-based polymers and urban mining and e-waste recovery."

Nilesh Shah stresses 'Mutual Fund Sahi Hai, Par Sirf Equity Nahin Hai' at Bombay Chamber Mutual Fund Conclave 3.0

"Mutual Fund Sahi Hai, par sirf equity nahin hai," said Nilesh Shah, Past President of the Bombay Chamber and Group President & Managing Director of Kotak Mahindra Asset Management Company, in his special address at Mutual Fund Conclave 3.0, organised by the Bombay Chamber in Mumbai. Shah noted that while the industry has effectively built trust in mutual funds, the next phase of growth must expand investor awareness and product adoption beyond equities.

Reviewing the industry's evolution, Shah pointed out that mutual funds have often provided exit routes to both FPIs and promoters, and reminded that such actions must always remain aligned with the long-term interests of Indian investors. India, he said, enjoys a rare alignment between investors and distributors, placing the domestic mutual fund industry among the most transparent globally.
